NEW HOUSING SPEEDUP ENDS WITH FAILURE

FEDERAL AGENCY TOLD TO CLOSE UP SHOP

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, June 9 (AP) — The government's program to speed the construction of homes was branded a failure today by the House Appropriations committee, which called for Expediter Frank R. Creedon to close up shop.

The committee allowed only enough funds to liquidate the office of housing expediter within a year, stipulating that no new business be undertaken after June 30. Its action will have to be backed up by the House and Senate, however, before it will stick.

Creedon's office took over the revised veterans emergency housing program after Wilson Wyatt, who launched it, stepped out in disagreement with President Truman. The president's budget contemplated liquidation of the office after Dec. 31.

Results Doubtful

In calling the housing program handled by Creedon a failure, the committee said "it is doubtful" whether funds already provided "have epexdited construction at all."

Moreover, it said:

Reports are prevalent that building materials have become available in a volume that is beginning to saturate the market, and that price reductions in many lines are in the offing because supply is beginning to exceed demand."

The committee made its recommendation in a bill supplying $36,097,580 in new funds for six government corporations for the fiscal year starting July 1 and limiting to $41,469,700 the corporate funds that 21 others may use for administrative expenses next year.

The new appropriations were reduced $14,039,920, or 28 percent, below budget estimates, while the limitations on administrative expenses were cut $14,347,550, or 26 percent.

Almost two-thirds of the total cut in new appropriations was directed at the National Housing Agency. In addition to cutting $4,225,920 from the $7,765,000 budget of the expediter, the committee chopped $5,000,000 from the $7,200,000 requested by the Federal Public Housing Authority.

Embezzlement Alleged

The FPHA, headed by Commissioner Dillon S. Myer, provides temporary housing for veterans, manages public war housing and is in charge of the program for low-rent public housing and slum clearance.

The committee said the FPHA has suffered from "poor administration in the past" and is operating now "with questionable policies and practices." The committee also said its attention has been called to "instances of embezzlement of the funds of local housing projects" but gave no details.

The committee also cut $4,914,000 from the budget of the Tennessee Valley Authority and ordered TVA to repay to the treasury during the next 40 years $348,239,240 it has received in past years in appropriations for power facilities. The repayments are to be made from net income from power operations.

Miners Idle; Protest Made On Labor Bill

Uniontown, Pa., June 9 (AP)—Spreading work stoppages which a United Mine Workers official said were called to protest pending labor legislation today idled an estimated 11,100 miners in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Twenty mines, half of which produce coal used in steelmaking, were closed by the work stoppages which President William Hynes of UMW district four termed "unauthorized."

The walkouts started over the weekend and spread today, affecting some of the mines owned by such large steel firms as U.S. Steel, Weirton, Republic and Jones and Laughlin.

U.S. Steel said it lost 25,000 tons of coal today, just 5,000 tons short of the total used each day at the Clairton Coking Works. The coking plant supplies the corporation's Pittsburgh district mills with 80 per cent of their coke.

Among the pits closed was the Robena mine, largest in the world which employs 1,800 miners. It was one of four H. C. Frick Coal and Coke Co. mines forced to close.

The Hartley-Taft labor bill restricting strikes in essential industries and providing new mediation machinery was expected to reach President Truman's desk in a few days.

The bill, presumably, would outlaw any coal strike when the mines pass out of government control June 30. Negotiations between UMW chief John L. Lewis and the operators broke down last week.

Today's shutdowns preceded by three weeks the 10-day vacation the miners get under their government contract. The vacation, starting June 27, was expected to delay any actual strike until July 7.

In Washington, the Coal Mines Administration and United Mine Workers headquarters remained silent concerning the walkouts.

MOSLEM NATION PLAN ACCEPTED

New Delhi Session Ends In Riot; India Ready For Independence

BY PRESTON GROVER

New Delhi, June 9 (AP) — The Moslem league council accepted the British plan for an independent Moslem nation in India tonight at a session which ended in a riot and brought police with guns blazing.

A band of Khaksars, Moslems who oppose the league, smashed their way into the council meeting within five minutes after the council had voted almost unanimously to establish the independent state of Pakistan after a preliminary period as a British dominion.

The attackers, colorfully clad in Arabic costumes with coils of horsehair around their heads, raced through the lounge of the Imperial hotel into the ball room where 300 members of the league council weremeeting.

The Khaksars, armed with knives and shovels, were set upon by council guards, and police who rushed in from outside the hotel had to use tear gas bombs and rifle shots to restore order. The police arrested 11 of the 20 raiders.

Moslem league President M. A. Jinnah, unhurt but tears streaming from his eyes due to the tear gas, said only eight vvotes were cast against acceptance of the British plan.

On June 14 the predominantly Hindu all-India National Congress will meet to ratify the plan under which the British will turn over control of the huge subcontinent to the Indians. Congress acceptance is assured.

Michigan War Fund Out Of Existence; $27,010 Last Check

Lansing, June 9. (AP) — The Michigan war fund went out of existence today with the signing of the final check by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake.

Brake, who was treasurer of the war fund, approved a $27,010 check to be sent to the National war fund.

The state agency, organized three years ago, handled $15,600,856 in contributions made by Michigan residents to the USO and other war relief agencies. More than 10,000 volunteers assisted in the continuing campaign.

A. L. Miller, president of Federated Publications, Battle Creek, served as president the last two years, succeeding Howard Lawrence of Grand Rapids.

Strike Threats Jolt Lagging Auto Output

Detroit, June 9. (AP) — Lagging car and truck production schedules got two more jolts today as the CIO United Auto Workers executive board authorized a strike Wednesday in eight Briggs Manufacturing Co. plants and the Ford Motor Co. closed two departments in its big Dearborn Rouge plant.

The door was left open, however, for a possible settlement of the Briggs contract dispute 24 hours before the strike deadline. Negotiators for the company, a principal auto body producer with seven such plants, will meet with union representatives here Tuesday morning.

Meeting at Chicago, the UAW-CIO executive board notified company Vice President Walter O. Briggs jr., that 20,000 workers would be ordered off their jobs at 10 a. m. Wednesday unless union demands are met by that time. There was no immediately comment from Briggs.

Experienced industry observers said the two disputes could bring idleness to upward of 50,000 workers.

The Ford company shutdown came as the strike of some 3,700 members of the Independent Foreman's association neared the end of its third week. It was announced by D. F. Harder, Ford vice president in charge of manufacturing, with a charge there had been a "slow down and sabotage of equipment."

Some 2,300 employes of the Briggs Manufacturing Co. Conner avenue plant in Detroit left their jobs this forenoon, but later voted to return to work tomorrow, pending outcome of efforts to avert the strike scheduled for Wednesday.

The strike, if implemented, would close six Detroit and one Evansville, Ind., Briggs plants, employing 20,000 workers. Shutting off car bodies for Packard and Chrysler's Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler divisions, it would cut immediately into passenger car output.

The five companies have accounted for a combined total output of approximately 17,000 passenger cars a week.

Among the Ford employees laid off today were workers on the body line, metal finishing, paint line, trim line and both Ford and Mercury final assembly lines.

MINISTER TRIED IN ARSON CASE

Desire For Large Church Claimed As Motive For Setting Fire

Milwaukee, June 9 (AP)— Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Tierney told a municipal court jury today desire for a larger church was the factor motivating the Rev. John Lewis when he allegedly set fire to his own Calvary Presbyterian church last January.,

The 72-year-old churchman is being tried on arson charges. The fire Jan. 25, caused damage estimated at $150,000.

Tierney said the state would show that in 1945 Dr. Lewis attempted to induce another Presbyterian clergyman to consolidate their churches into one large new church with Dr. Lewis as lecturer and the other pastor as administrator.

The assistant prosecutor said the plan failed to materialize.

Defense Atty. Harry Meissner made no opening statement, requesting only that all jurors "retain an open mind."

SOLDIERS BREAK OUT OF PRISON

Manhunt On In Germany For 7 Rifle Armed GI Fugitives

BY RICHARD O'REGAN

Frankfurt, Germany, June 9. (AP) —A new escape of soldier-prisoners from a U. S. Army hospital was partly thwarted today as a manhunt for seven rifle - armed GI fugitives spread to the French zone of Germany.

Among the escapees was Leroy Riedout, 23, negro, of (8114 Dumas avenue), Owosso, Mich., serving six months.

The U. S. constabulary reported that two soldiers were captured scaling the fence of the station hospital at Heidelberg after a third had broken out of the hospital grounds in a jeep.

Meanwhile, hundreds of constabulary troopers and military police throughout the American zone were alerted to watch for a speeding black sedan, forcibly stolen from an Army officer and his family by four of eight soldiers who broke out of Mannheim stockade yesterday. One was recaptured.

The sedan raced at 70 miles an hour this afternoon through the frontier station between the American and French zones near Karlsruhe.

American authorities immediately notified French military police, but communications in the French zone are slow, the constabulary said.

One of the original eight, Richard J. Kent, 20, serving a five-year sentence, was picked up by military police near Heidelberg.

Cpl. Carl Zettlemeyer, of 120 Barkley street, Topton, Pa., was wounded early today when a group of fugitives returned the fire of pursuers in a military police jeep.

WORLD TRADE WITH NIPPON OPENS AUG. 15

PRIVATE BUSINESS GETS CHANCE TO BUY GOODS

Washington, June 9. (AP)—The international trade door to Japan will be opened to private business on a limited scale on August 15, the state and war departments announced tonight.

This announcement of resumption of international trade with Japan, which on the eve of the second world war had an import-export value listed at about $1,300,000,000, followed the return of the United States trade mission from conferences with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his headquarters staff in Tokyo.

The mission, composed of representatives of the departments of state, treasury, war and commerce, the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiary, the U. S. Commercial company, now handling Japanese exports, was headed by Brig. Gen. George Eberle, deputy chief of the civil affairs division in the war department. The group flew to Tokyo May 8.

Accomodations Prepared

The mission reported that the first step toward normal trade relations with the defeated Japanese would be accomodations in Japan for 400 private trade representatives in the main industrial and commercial areas.

These representatives will be allocated among the Allied Nations on a percentage basis by the inter-Allied trade board of the Far Eastern commission in Washington. MacArthur's headquarters reserved the right to pass upon each representative.

While Japan remains in the status of an enemy nation, controls will be maintained over commercial arrangements by agencies set up by the Tokyo headquarters of the supreme command of the Allied powers, but many of these will be relinquished at the earliest possible date and in many cases before the signing of the peace treaty.

Prior to the expected influx of representatives of shoe concerns, toy merchants, silk houses, producers of raw cotton, garment manufacturers, medical establishments from the United States, Britain, Latin America, Europe, Asia, international business services, such as banking, communications and insurance will be permitted immediate entry.

But because of the shortage of housing and food, it will be impossible at this time to permit unrestricted entry of all business interests. They will have to be directly associated with matters of immediate foreign trade.

One difficulty in reestablishing international trade with Japan will be determining the value of the postwar yen, the Japanese currency. In 1920, the yen was valued at 50 cents. The next year it dropped to 48 cents and scaled down to 46 in 1929.

The mission said that initially there will be no foreign exchange rates established. This is not deemed practicable until a flow of trade has been set up. It is expected that trade at first will be largely on the barter basis—a manufacturer will swap shoes for embroidered kimonas, for example.

Official pricing will be determined by SCAP commodity specialists based upon world market standards but this will not prevent individual traders from discussing prices with the Japanese producers.

Armour Nominated To Be Assistant State Secretary

Washington, June 9 (AP)—President Truman nominated the veteran Norman Armour to be an assistant Secretary of State today, rounding out an effort to unify the direction of United States post war foreign policies.

Armour, widely experienced career diplomat, was recalled from retirement by Secretary Marshall to head up administration of the state department's political affairs in all ports of the world.

His nomination was sent to the Senate to fill a vacancy created by the resignation last week of Spruille Braden, who had charge of Latin American affairs

Armour is to fill this spot and also direct the details of American political relations with Europe, the Far East, Near East and Africa.

Senate confirmation would complete a reorganization of the stat department which Marshall has speeded up since his return from the foreign ministers conference at Moscow.

Mississippi Spills Over Levees; 22,240 Persons Homeless

Hannibal, Mo., June 9 (AP)—Spilling over levees at several points, the Mississippi river surged to record high levels and then crested in northern Missouri and Illinois today in a destructive flood that left an estimated 22,240 persons homeless in a four-state area.

Approximately 26,000 acres of farmland between Wapello, Ia., and St. Louis were under water, and an additional 120,000 acres on the Illinois side were threatened with inundation.

The muddy water reached into several river communities.

Downstream from St. Louis a further rise of up to five feet was forecast by the government weather bureau, which added that in that area "it will hardly be a major flood in the sense of the 1943 and 1944 floods."

Rail traffic between St. Louis and Burlington, Ia., had been halted, and highways were closed in flood areas along the river.

The U. S. Army engineers and the Coast Guard had every available worker on the job, and the American Red Cross had 50 staff workers and about 600 volunteers in the flooded area.

Water was eight to ten feet deep in the village of Alexandria, Mo., near the Iowa line, and the Coast Guard said a survey from the air showed the little town "completely flooded with only the rooftops showing." The residents all had been moved out when a levee break flooded the community.

In Hannibal, one block of the main street and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad yards were under water. The Coast Guard reported farms flooded under eight feet of water north of Hannibal.

The Alexandria levee failure eased the flood situation at Canton, Mo., somewhat and the water was receding after about half of the city had been inundated. The municipal light and power plant, still surrounded by water, continued to operate. About 125 persons still were unable to return to their homes.

At Quincy, Ill., where the river reached a record stage of 23.6 feet, railroad yards in the waterfront area were flooded, but the town itself, situated on a bluff, was not endangered. Several persons were forced from their homes in South Quincy.

PRESIDENT OFF ON 3-DAY TRIP

Talk In Ottawa, Canada, Expected To Touch On Foreign Affairs

BY ERNEST B. VACARRO

Aboard President Truman's special train enroute to Ottawa, June 9 (AP) — President Truman left Washington at 8 p. m. (CDT) tonight for a three-day goodwill visit to Canada that may bring a new pronouncement on foreign affairs.

Mrs. Truman and their daughter Margaret accompanied him on the 18-hour trip to Ottawa where he will address the Canadian parliament Wednesday.

The President and his family arrived at Washington Union terminal 18 minutes before the departure. He shook hands with T. A. Stone, the Canadian minister, and Mrs. Stone, who went to the station to see the chief executive off.

Mr. Truman's address before the Canadian lawmakers would provide an opportunity for any new expression on the international situation the President might care to make. In any case it seemed likely that he would have something to say about the traditional friendship between the United States and Canada and their efforts for world peace and economic stability. Canada, like the United States, is a major producer of grain for needy areas.

This is Mr. Truman's fourth trip out of the country since he became president upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt April 12, 1945.

Federal Education Grant Is Approved

Washington, June 9. (AP)—Legislation authorizing the federal government to grant the states $300,000,000 a year to help equalize educational opportunities was approved today by a Senate public welfare subcommittee.

The vote was 6 to 1, with Senator Donnell (R-Mo.) casting the only dissenting vote.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), chairman of the subcommittee, told reporters Donnell objected to a provision which gaves the states discretion as to whether federal funds should be used for assistance to religious and private schools.

Under the bill, Aiken said, each state would receive a minimum federal grant of $5 per child a year if certain qualifying standards are met.

The Vermont senator declared there is "no question at all" that the full committee will approve the bill. He said he expects it to come up for Senate debate next month.

Former Movie Star J. W. Kerrigan Dies

Hollywood, June 9. (AP) — J. Warren Kerrigan, one of the first matinee idols of the silent screen, died of pneumonia today at his Balboa Beach home. He was 67.

Born in Louisville, Ky., the veteran actor, whose real name was George Warren Kerrigan, was educated at the University of Chicago.

He came here in 1914 and formed the J. Warren Kerrigan Productions, for which he starred in a number of screen stories.

Among these were "Captain Blood" and "Sampson and Delilah."

He retired from the screen a number of years ago.

TRUMAN VISIT IN CANADA TO DELAY ACTION

CONGRESS TO GET VERDICT NEXT MONDAY

BY WILLIAM R. SPEAR

Washington, June 9 (AP)—A presidential veto of the tax reduction bill at noon next Monday became a strong possibility today, to be followed within four days by action on the measure for curbing unions.

With President Truman leaving by train tonight for a three-day official visit to Canada, his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, announced that White House action on both measures will be put off until after his return Friday night.

This means that a veto message cannot be sent to Congress until the House meets at 11 a. m. (CDT) Monday, for it will be in recess Saturday and Sunday and presidential messages to the Capitol are never released except when the chamber to which they are addressed is sitting.

Approval Unlikely

If the President decision were to sign the tax bill, he could do so Saturday. But if his disposition had been to accept the measure, which he already has had for study since the middle of last week, it seemed probable that he would have done so speedily in order that the treasury could get the machinery under way for putting the tax cuts into effect by July 1, as the bill would require. New payroll withholding schedules would have to be put into force.

Presidential aides already have been reported as counseling a veto, and Mr. Truman himself previously had said that this is not the time to cut income taxes. Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House ways and means committee, urging in the House today that the President sign, acknowledged that "indeed, the indications are that he will veto the measure."

Labor Bill Protested

Republican leaders hold scant hopes of passing this bill over a veto, although they expect to try.

A presidential "yes" or "no" on the labor bill by June 20 became assured when the measure physcially reached the White House today following its formal signature by congressional officials. The constitution requires the president to sign or veto a bill ten days after he receives it, not counting Sundays, or have it become law without his signature.

A torrent of letters and postcards on the two controversial bills has swelled the volume of White House mail close to record proportions. Eben Ayers, presidential press aide, reported 100,000 letters and 350,000 postcards have been received to date and said the "great majority" appeal for a veto of the labor bill. The weekend alone brought 18,000 letters and 2,000 telegrams.

POLICE TRACE BOMBS

Mt. Clemens (AP)—Police and sheriff's officers today searched a mile-square area in western Macomb county after residents reported half a dozen dynamite bombs had been set off in the early morning hours. Police said bomb fragments indicated the explosives were of the type used in fireworks exhibitions.

SIGLER WRONG, KEYES INSISTS

Lieutenant Govenor Is 'Thunderstruck' By Accusations

Dearborn, Mich., June 9 (AP) — Michigan's doctor-lawyer-dentist lieutenant governor, Eugene C. Keyes, today declared he had been "thunderstruck" by Governor Kim Sigler's assertion that he collaborated with a "handful" of state senators in blocking the administration's legislative program.

Speaking at the state meeting of Associated Press editors at Higgins Lake Saturday, the governor declared the lieutenant governor not only had attempted to stifle certain legislation but also had avoided conferring with him.

"In the single instance in which governor invited me to his office," Dr. Keyes said, "he requested support for the passage of the anti-lobby bill and the bill to prevent lawyer legislators from practicing before state commissions and boards.

"I assured him of my complete support. The anti-lobby bill passed both houses. The other died in the House and never reached the Senate."

"I have said the governor is in error. I shall be able to show him where he is mistaken when he makes specific the vague generalities in which he has indulged," Dr. Keyes asserted.

"If the governor can show me one senator I influenced against his program, I'll resign," the lieutenant governor said, but he added that "I don't intend to leave public office."

Governor Sigler told the A. P. editors he had admonished Keyes to "quit playing politics" but Keyes denied that "the governor admonished me about any such thing . . ."

Jesse Jones Sees No Depression Near

Washington, June 9 (AP)—Jesse Jones, former Secretary of Commerce, told congressmen today that business should be good "for quite some time," and declared: "I do not believe we can talk ourselves into a depression."

He warned, however, of "some clouds on the horizon, international-wise, that could affect our economy."

Countering widespread talk of a slump this year, Jones said in a statement to the House banking committee:

"I see no possibility of a depression in the near future."

Is Escanaba Losing Or Gaining In Population? Answer To Come In 1950

Is the population of Escanaba growing? And if so, how much has it increased since the last U. S. census in 1940?

Back in 1940 the federal census revealed a population of 14,830. Then through the war years it is presumed that the population decreased what with men entering military service, and many families moving to industrial centers to engage in war work.

It has been the opinion of many persons that in the nearly two years since the end of the war Escanaba has boomed—boomed industrially, commercially and in the number of residents.

THROUGH THE YEARS

Here is an official record of Escanaba's population back to the first census in 1884:

1884— 4335
1890— 6,808
1900— 9,549
1910—13,194
1920—13,103
1930—14,524
1940—14,830

Whether the city's population is the same as in 1940, or whether it has increased materially will not be definitely known until the next federal census in 1950.

Meanwhile, it is possible to speculate on the city's population trends, however, and consider some of the factors that might give an index in determining the trend.

The first index used is the number of residential electric meters in the city, for almost every family in the city, except those residing in apartment hotels, purchase electricity. In 1940 when the city's population was 14,830 there were 3,701 residential electric meters, or a ratio of approximately four persons for each meter.

In April of 1947 there were 4,151 residential electric meters in Escanaba, and if the same ratio of meter to population applies it is indicated that the city now has a population of 16,610.

The second index used is the number of Daily Press subscribers in Escanaba. In 1940 the circulation of the newspaper in the city was 3,213, or one newspaper for each 4½ persons.

In April of 1947 the newspaper's circulation had increased to 3,798. Based on the 1940 ratio there is an indicated increase of 2,224 for a 1947 population totaling 17,054.

The third index considered is the city's school population census, which is made annually. Figures will not be available for 1947, however, until August. Therefore the 1946 school census must be used.

In 1940 there were in Escanaba 4,197 children of school census age—5 to 19 inclusive. The ratio to the 1940 city population total was 3½ to 1.

The 1946 school census revealed 3,912 children in that age group. This is a decrease of 285 since 1940. Applying the 1940 ratio we find that Escanaba's total population has declined to 13,692 as of 1946.

To summarize:

In the first index the city gains 1,760 in population; in the second it gains 2,234; and in the third it loses 1,138.

Few people will believe that Escanaba's population is declining, yet in the absence of a census the question will remain unanswered until 1950. The city has shown a steady and nearly uninterrupted history of growth since it was incorporated as a village in 1866 with a population of 1,200. By 1930 it had reached 14,524, in 1940 it was 14,830.

What it is today is still a question for anyone who wants to speculate about it. Optimists say Escanaba will reach 18,000 by 1950.

FESTIVAL STORY TOLD TO CLUBS

Wicks And Bancroft Are Speakers At Kiwanis And Rotary

The Hiawathaland Festival story was told by Norman Wicks, promotion manager, and Robert Bancroft, pageant director, respectively, of the John B. Rogers Producing company at the meetings of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs on Monday.

Speaking at the Kiwanis club, Wicks stated that it had come to his attention that there exists some public misunderstanding concerning the sponsorship of two carnivals that will be playing here in June.

"The Hiawathaland Festival committee and the John B. Rogers Producing company are in no way sponsoring or encouraging the appearance of these carnivals in Escanaba and vicinity," Wicks said.

Wicks outlined the various events that will be staged during the Hiawathaland Festival July 3 to 6. In addition to the Hiawathaland Saga, the historical spectacle which will be presented nightly, the festival will offer daily programs of water skiing, boat races and various sports tournaments. He added that Sunday, July 6, will be Religious Participation day, on which the Protestant churches will conduct a joint sunrise service at the athletic field and the Catholics will hold a field mass.

At the Rotary club meeting Bancroft presented a description of the Hiawathaland Saga now in preparation. He said that he had inspected the high school athletic field where the historical spectacle is to be presented.

"It looks like a wonderful setting for the spectacle," he said. "Having an attractive natural setting does mean much to the success of the spectacle. Incidentally, we call it a spectacle because it is colorful, lively and dramatic. Many people seem to think pageants are slow and dull."

Bancroft explained that interest in the spectacle is high and that hundreds of people are volunteering for parts in it.

"There's a little 'ham' in all of us, so we're not having trouble recruiting a cast," he observed.

He outlined the pageant story from its opening prologue, through the drama and music of the Hiawatha's Wedding Feast episode, and down through historical episodes to the present day.

Climax of the spectacle will be to present Hiawathaland recreational facilities and the vacation advantages to be found here.

There will be a cast of between 700 and 750, and the action of the pageant will be supplemented by narration.

Officials of the Insulation Manufacturers' Corporation of Chicago, including A. S. Gray, executive vice president, E. B. Finn, vice president, S. W. Jarosz, superintendent of all manufacturers and W. B. Wickland, customer contact man, will arrive in Escanaba on Wednesday, June 11, on business. A. W. Pierce is manager of the local Wood Wedge division of the corporation.

Upper Peninsula Will Have Coal

Milwaukee—(AP)—Wisconsin and Upper Michigan will have enough coal next winter but the nationwide supply, especially of the better qualities, will not be excessive, Frank Reed, Chicago coal comany executive told the final session of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan fuel dealers convention yesterday.

Reed said much of the coal coming into the area arrives by water, while areas dependent on rail shipments may have to worry because of the shortage of railroad coal cars.

Cold waves sweep down from the north more often during winters when there are many sunspots on the sun.

ST. JOSEPH HAS FINAL CEREMONY

Father Gimski Speaks Of Knowledge And Character

The 42 candidates for graduation from St. Joseph high school were presented their diplomas at formal religious services conducted in the church Sunday evening. Baccalaureate services were held in the morning at the nine o'clock mass at which time Rev. Father Alphonse spoke to the group of completing students on the problems of life which lie before them today and how their training will aid and abet.

At commencement exercises the graduates were addressed by Father Gimski of St. Michael's parish in Perronville. Originally Father Ruppe of St. Patrick parish was to speak but was unable to appear.

"Character is far more important in life than knowledge by itself," declared the commencement speaker as he urged every student to avail himself of knowledge, not for just a few years but all through life. Knowledge without character is like an uncontroled fire or a river without a dam, he declared.

"Drink deeply of the pools of knowledge" was his advice. Today, the speaker said, there is more need than ever before for good leaders of sound character, and the graduates of now will be called upon to face these problems.

Following the address the Rev. Fr. Alphonse conferred the diplomas. The Glee club of the school, accompanied and directed by Sister Cedella, sang Panis Angelicus, O Salutaris and Tantum Ergo.

Benediction followed after which the Glee club sang "Holy God We Praise Thy Name" and the "Laudate Dominum.

More Talent Is Needed For Hiawathaland Saga

More talent is wanted for the Hiawathaland Saga, which will be staged nightly at the Escanaba athletic field July 3 to 6, Nevin Reynolds, talent committee chairman, announced last night.

Upon arriving in Escanaba and surveying the local situation, Robert Bancroft, pageant director of the John B. Rogers company, has decided to increase the cast from 600 to 800 persons. The possibilities for staging an outstanding historical spectacle so impressed Mr. Bancroft that he has made up his mind to expand the scope of the production.

A special invitation was extended by Mr. Bancroft to young men and women, home from college for the vacation, to assume parts in the cast.

About 150 girls, 16 and over, are needed for the expanded cast.

Boys and girls, between the ages of 8 and 15, who have already signed up and who are not connected with Girl Socuts, Boy Scouts or Camp Fire Girls, are asked to meet at the Junior high school gymnasuim 7 o'clock this evening.

State Budget Deficit

MICHIGAN'S budget deficit for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, has been estimated at slightly more than $9,000,000, on the basis of the legislators' figures, but this gap may be closed if sales tax receipts continues at the present hgh rate. In adopting the budget, the lawmakers estimated the total sales tax receipts at $140,000,000, which is $16,000,000 short of this year's collections, presumably under the theory that there will be a slight decrease in business volume in the approaching year.

Even if one finds a silver lining in the state's financial situation for the approaching year, there is no overlooking the fact that the problem will be more severe in the following year. A substantial surplus in funds on hand at the end of the present fiscal year will help to meet the problem in 1947-48, but this surplus will not be available the following year. As a result, the legislature will have to be recalled for a special session next year and find new sources of revenue or make further economies in the operation of the state departments.

The largest source of new revenue voted by the legislature in its session just completed is secured by the adoption of a three cents per package tax of cigarettes, estimated to yield $18,000,000. This will raise the price of cigarettes to about 20c a package, which will not make the smokers happy. Another $12,000,000 increase, none of which would be used for state financing, is provided in the one cent gasoline tax boost. The governor, however, has indicated that he still is undecided what action he will take on this proposal.

The Problem of Trees

THE U. S. Forest Service has been making a reappraisal of the forest situation in the United States and, accordnig to Lyle F. Watts, chief of the forest service, the results compiled to date are not encouraging.

Our forests are not producing as much timber as we need now and they are not growing anywhere near as much as we will want in the years to come. The annual drain on our saw timber is about 50 percent in excess of annual growth.

The problem is an acute one and certainly one that should command the attention of the entire nation. Timber is one of our most important basic resources. Perhaps it is the most important of all of our national resources because aside from its many other uses, it is important in watershed protection, in soil conservation, in game cover and in recreational development.

The chief of the U. S. Forest Service has called attention to the fact that three-fourths of the forest land in this country suitable for growing commercial imber is privately owned, but only seven percent of all private forest land cutting practice can be classed as good, and only one percent represents forest management of a high order—the kind that builds up forest growth for maximum, continued production.

One does not need to blindly accept the report of the U. S. Forest Service to find out what is happening to our forest resources. Right here in the Upper Peninsula are many examples of forest waste. Many areas are being clear cut, every tree that makes a stick of pulpwood or a small saw log being cut. On adjacent timber tracts are mature trees, many of them windblown and rotting, because their private owners have not yet got around to log them off under a program of selective forest management.

The obvious answer is public control of timber cutting and related forest practices, sufficient to stop forest destruction and deterioration, to make sure that forest lands will be kept in condition to grow reasonably full crops of timber. Nation-wide standards must be established and administered by the various states.

If we fail to do this, we stand to lose for ourselves and posterity our most vital national resource—our timberlands.

Duck Soup for Moscow

BOTH Negro and white citizens of Britain, France and Russia are joining in shocked condemnation of the acquittal at Greenville, S. C., of 28 self-admitted participants in the lynching of a Negro. The Old World tradition of the United States as a lawless country of lynching bees has received a huge boost, and Moscow papers are finding the event good grist for their propaganda mills.

British newspapers are giving the acquittal big headlines, and are emphasizing the world-wide implications of anti-Negro sentiment in the southern states. Many colored Britishers are writing to their papers, stating that in the British West Indies and in Africa, under the British flag, colored people get better treatment than do those in the United States. They say that a travesty of justice such has just occurred in the South would be impossible in any British colony.

Moscow papers are asking pointedly why Washington is fighting Communism while at the same time permitting such absolute miscarriages of justice right at home. There is a very general opinion abroad that the jury which voted for acquittal on all counts, has done America a great disservice. One London paper says frankly that the jurymen have proved themselves most disastrous ambassadors of the American way of life.

All in all, this farce has been a very bad thing for American claims in general. Just how we can logically complain of Russian mistreatment of others abroad, when we are permitting such terrible things at home, no decent American can explain. That jury has made itself a real enemy of much that America holds dear, and its criminally crooked verdict is producing a host of jeers and criticisms abroad.

Recreation Expansion

THE annual report of the National Recreation association revealed the tremendous increase in community recreation programs on a national scale during the past past year.

Local expenditures for public recreation in 1946 totalled more than $51,000,000, compared with only $21,000,000 in 1941, the last year for which accurate figures were available. There were more than twice as many leaders in the recreation program, with 45 percent of the total expenditures going for that purpose as compared with 36 percent in 1941. In addition to paid leaders, there also was a sharp increase in the number of volunteers, increasing from 35,843 to 65,992.

Forty-six cities and one court reported the passage of recreation bond issues totalling more than $22,000,000 for the further expansion of recreational facilities—new playgrounds, recreation centers, etc.

Community recreation also broadened to embrace a larger percentage of the population. Special programs for older adults were established in 264 communities. As usual, athletics and other physical recreation activities led in popularity but last year, arts and crafts, music, drama and other non-physical activities showed remarkable gains.

America is capitalizing on the war-time lessons it has learned of the values of recreation—in preventing juvenile delinquency, in saving children from death and injury from playing in the streets, in promoting community health, in developing character and democratic habits through team and group activities, and, above all, in bringing joy and happiness to millions of children, youth and adults.

EUROPE'S NEED

(Christian Science Monitor)

Europe needs bread. Two years after the end of war, large areas of that exhausted continent are desperately hungry. And a bewildered Amercan public wonders why.

As background to the hunger is a war seven times as destructive as World War I. Farm machinery destroyed or deteriorated during the war has not yet been replaced. Chemical fertilizers are needed for impoverished soil—though the United States and her allies meanwhile dismantle nitrogen and phosphorus plants in Germany which could supply this need. Fields lie fallow where hungry peasants have eaten seed grain instead of sowing it. Manpower shortages are serious, accentuated by the number of men still under arms.

All this has been made more acute by the weather, whcih some people accuse of Fascist sympathies. Disastrous drought has been followed by severe cold, killing early crops and flooding arable land. American bumper crops alone have kept these successive attacks of the elements from being knockout blows.

But American grain will not solve the longer-term problems of European agriculture. And among these problems are some that are basically political. There is the decreased efficiency that has come with land reform in eastern Europe. There is the problem of the black market in western Europe, depriving the many to feed the few. Without faith in the currency, without consumer goods to buy, the farmer hoards and the city dweller suffers. Europe finds itself unable either to enforce controls or to dispense with contrals.

Man shall not live by bread alone. Relief must continue to flow unstintingly to Europe, but increasing emphasis must be put on helping her to remedy those conditions—beyond sun and frost—which lie at the root of her continuing hunger.

WORDS TO WATCH

Overheard on the radio: ". . . will arouse the opposition of the AY-rabs in Palestine." If the name Arab were syllabified thus: A-rab, it might be pronounced "AY-rab." But the dictionaries dvide the name thus: Ar-ab. The "r," then, belongs to the first syllable, and the "a" has the flat sound as heard in such words as "arrogant, carrot." The second syllable "a" should be obscured, thus: AR-ub.

The language of the Arabs is called Arabic. Do not accent the second syllable. Be sure to say: AR-uh-bik.

On the other hand, the accent does fall on the second syllable of the adjective Arabian; therefore, the second-syllable "a" properly takes the long (ay) sound, thus: uh-RAY-bee-un.

There is no "home" in homicide. The first syllable should rhyme with "Tom", thus: HOM-i-side.

Does your litle Junior or Sister go to "kindly-garden"? There really isn't such a place, you know. The correct word is formed from the German kinder, "children," and garten, "garden." Kindergarten, in both English and German, is pronounced: KIN'der-GAHR-ten.

Watch the word jewelry. Be sure you do not transpose the "e" and "l" thus: "JEW-luh-ree." Also, watch the tendency to cram the word into two syllables, as 'JOOL-ree." The correct pronunciation is: JOO-ul-ree.

Overheard in a restaurant: "And we're going to build as soon as we can find a good artch-i-tek." There is no "artch" in architect (note the final "t"), nor in the usually manhandled word archipelago.

The prefix archi- always rhymes with "darky." So be sure to pronounce architect as: AHRK-i-tekt, and archipelago as: AHRK-i-PELL'uh-goe.

It's hard to believe, but the amethyst is so called because the ancients believed it cured drunkenness, especially when powdered and drunk in a liquid. Amethyst is from the Greek amethyein, "not to become drunk."

World Events Analyzed

Washington.—"Political passion and prejudice should have no part. With foresight and a willingness on the part of our people to face up to the vast responsibility which history has clearly placed upon our country, the difficulties I have outlined can and will be overcome."

These were the concluding words of the historic speech Secretary of State George C. Marshall made at Harvard University. The date of June 5 is likely to be triple-starred in the history books because of that speech even though the American people fall short of the willingness and the foresight the crisis calls for.

Even the casual newspaper reader cannot have missed the meaning of the coincidence of events on that day. Almost at the same hour that Marshall spoke, President Truman issued his attack on Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft had said that the Truman program of foreign aid was keeping up prices here at home, contrary to the expressed intention of the president to bring prices down. You could read into the Taft statement an implication that the president was guilty of deliberate double-dealing.

—A POLITICAL STATEMENT—

The Taft statement was politics. It was provocatively aimed at a sensitive point of national policy. Mr. Truman can hardly be blamed for being upset.

But whether he intended it or not, the president's statement together with Taft's will be taken by many as the opening round in next year's political contest. Certainly it foreshadows the kind of arguments we shall hear in 1948. Those arguments will grow increasingly bitter in the next 16 months.

The Taft-Truman exchange illuminates the dilemma of the coming months in a startling way. In the simplest terms, it is this: national and international policy are so linked together that it is difficult or impossible to have a bipartisan foreign policy and a partisan domestic policy.

As Mr. Truman acknowledged in his blast, the foreign-aid program does mean pressure on prices in this country. That is part of the grumble of business men who level the charge of politics at the president for his effort to talk prices down.

What Mr. Truman might have pointed out was that Sen. Taft gets most of the credit or the blame — depending on the political slant you take—for destroying price controls. It is true that the controls had been gravely weakened by action of the Truman administration before congress a year ago scuttled price control. Without any controls, however, the tremendous pressures at home and abroad sent prices skyward.

State Department planners are working on the outline of a program for support of a unified Europe which would cost upwards of six billions a year for five or six years. In his clear, precise language, Marshall told us why such a program is essential. It is essential both to European stability and Ameircan prosperity in light of the fact that roughly one-sixth of what the United States makes or grows is being sent abroad. Cut even a part of those exports and the effect would be felt immediately.

In order to send five or six billions of our goods to Europe in some form of lend-lease, we should need a minimum of regulation and control in force here. Otherwise we would risk feeding the inflation at home.

—HALF SLAVE, HALF-FREE—

Yet anyone who looks candidly at the present political scene must realize that the trend is in exactly the opposite direction. Some export controls have been taken off. The pressure is to throw them all overboard.

Lincoln said the nation could exist half slave and half free. It is hard to see how the nation can accept the responsibility of its overwhelming economic power with an untrammeled boom at home and the controlled expenditure of billions abroad. Boom at home and directed spending for peace abroad do not go together.

There is no reason to believe that those on the Republican side who will make most of the background noise in Washington leading up to '48 have faced this reality. Taft's statement was an obvious effort to exploit current prejudice.

One man could do a great deal to make us understand that domestic and foreign policies are tied together. That man is Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. A responsibile speech on foreign policy by Dewey, recognizing the fearful realities of the moment would clear the murky air of Washington like a thundershower. It is an opportunity such as few men are given.

One Way to Get Rid of a White Elephant

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

THE HOST TOWN— Escanaba will be host this summer to more visitors than it has seen in many years, perhaps more than any other summer season in its history. A considerable amount of time and effort are being expended to make the Hiawatha-land Festival a success and the highlight of the summer entertainment program.

Dunathan

This year Escanaba is in a better position to entertain its visitors than ever before, both from the standpoint of accommodations and facilities for their comfort. The city will spread its mat of welcome and will greet the visitor with open arms.

Unfortunately not all of the preparations are being made that should be made. For one thing, any housewife anticipating the arrival of guests gives her house a thorough cleaning and decorating. She scrubs and polishes, dusts off the cobwebs and shines the windows. She wants her guests to receive the best possible impression.

CIVIC PRIDE—The city of Escanaba is the house we live in. As hosts we want to take pride in it. Our guests will come from other cities, some from considerable distance, and some will be former residents on a homecoming celebration.

What will be their impression of Escanaba?

Undoubtedly they will find the main street decorated with flags and bunting, and the parks will be clean and neat. Business places in the majority will present their usual good appearance, and the city public works crews will see to it that streets and alleys are clean.

But as soon as the visitor starts looking around a bit he will encounter blocks of residences that are dull and drab; homes in need of paint; yards that would be more attractive if there were a few flowers planted in them.

* * *

IT'S CLEAN-UP TIME— This is naturally the season of the year when flowering plants are available. Many of the hardier kinds suited to our climate are not expensive and make a colorful showing. In garden beds, in porch or window boxes they will give your house a festive air—and will help make Escanaba more attractive.

If you have not already raked and mowed your lawn, trimmed the shrubs, tied up the rose bushes and planted flowers — this is the time to do it.

Combine the yard beautification with some needed repairs around your house, maintenance that may have been put off through the war years. Houses get shabby fast, yet perk up quickly when an old paint job is washed, or new paint applied. Broken sidewalks give an extremely bad impression in any town. Lopsided porches, tumbledown sheds, sagging trellises should be repaired or removed.

All of this is something that will have to be done sometime. Why not do it now and make Escanaba's residential district something to be proud of?

* * *

AGAIN FLOWERS — While we're still on the subject of flower planting, we are of the opinion that a few flower beds here and there in our parks and along Ludington street would be a welcome relief from the sight of concrete and gravel. This is a project that might be considered too costly, considering the belief of some folks that such flower beds would be raided, trampled and destroyed by thoughtless youngsters.

It is our belief that children can be taught to respect flowers just as they can other property. In the city of Holland in Lower Michigan tulips bloom in beds along almost every street, and acres of them grow in open fields. The people of Holland take pride in their show of flowers, and this pride becomes a part of the training of their children.

* * *

OUR BEHAVIOR —There is another phase of hospitality which the Escanaba community might consider as needing improvement. It is the deportment of our children during parades.

In the Memorial Day parade down Ludington street children crowded out into the street, around the vehicles, and surrounded the band so that folks on the sidewalk could hardly tell whether it was a parade or a holiday for kids. If such a spectacle is repeated on the Fourth of July, the many beautiful floats now being prepared will be ripped and torn before the parade has progressed for more than a few blocks.

It has also been the experience of the Escanaba municipal band that children are permitted to run and shout around the band stand while the musicians are playing.

Escanaba will want to look its best this summer, and its people will want to be on their best behavior. To the thousands of visitors who will be here it will mean the difference between wanting to return or to avoid this community in the future.

—Clint Dunathan.

Q. Is there a "flying laboratory"?

A. Yes. The B-29 "Flying Lab." It went aloft above Brazil to record the amount of cosmic radiation in the air. Last year the "flying lab" was used in a serfes of scientific flights along the coast of the continent from Canada to Chile.

Q. After a warm day why doesn't the cold of night cause rain?

A. Because the air is not always near saturation. When such is the case it will be able to hold its vapor in solution, even after it is condensed by the chilly night.

Q. Who was Fuh-he?

A. The first of the five emperors of China. The mythological kings of China, like the old kings of Rome, represented five periods and not five persons. Fuh-ho is given credit for the invention of writing, for having taught the people how to rear fish, cattle and other animals, for instituting the rite of marriage, and for the introduction of musical instruments.

Q. When did organized archery begin as a sport in the U. S.?

A. In 1828; when a club, the United Bowmen of Philadelphia, was formed.

Q. Can you tell me how to prevent my pottery plates from scratching the table?

A. You may sand the edges of the dishes to make them smoother and cover them with shellac.

Q. My wife is a WAVE veteran and I am a veteran too. We would like to study together under the G. I. Bill. Is this possible?

A. You have equal privileges. As a veteran with a dependent, you may receive $90 a month subsistence and your wife may receive $65 per month.

Q. What did Magellan's men use for food in the Pacific?

A. Before they discovered Guam, they were living on ox hides, sawdust and rats.

Q. Can you tell me the origin of the naming of the large southern constellation "Orion"?

A. According to one legend, the Giant Hunter, Orion, was loved by the Huntress Diana, but their wedding was opposed by her brother, Apollo, who caused Orion's death by a scorpion's sting. Diana then obtained Orion a place among the stars, in a position where he would always be opposite the constellation Scorpio (the Scorpion) so that he might never again be troubled by that reptile.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington —President Truman got a barrage of arguments to veto the labor bill the other day, but he made absolutely no commitment. The barage came fom three Democratic members of the House Labor Committee —Representatives John Lesinski of Michigan, Ray Madden of Indiana and Arthur Klein of New York —and the interesting clue they got was the president remarked:

Pearson

"Well, I've always been a friend of labor and I still am a friend of labor. That is a matter of record, before and during the time I was a member of the senate, and since. However, labor hasn't always been reasonable with me."

As an afterthought, the president added: "Labor will find after this question has been settled that I am still on its side."

Truman didn't elaborate on this broad observation. Nor did he reveal who among labor had not been "reasonable" with him. The three congressmen assumed, however, that he referred either to John L. Lewis; or Al Whitney's railroad strike last year, or possibly AFL President Bill Green's support of Republicans in the last election, including Representative Fred Hartley of New Jersey who, has now written the reactionary version of the labor bill.

—POLITICAL WARNINGS—

"Well, labor naturally looks to you as its friend, Mr. President" responded New York's Rep. Klein. "The Democrats will lose New York next year if you sign the Taft-Hartley bill."

Lesinski and Madden also predicted heavy Democratic losses in Michigan and Indiana if Truman failed to veto.

"Labor didn't know about the inherent dangers of this legislation when congress first took it up, but they know what the score is now," declared Lesinski. "Every labor union in the country and every local union member knows that this bill will take away his rights under the Wagner Act."

"President Roosevelt was elected four times with the overwhelming support of these same people," added Madden provocatively.

However, Truman refused to nibble at the bait, saying only that he would give thorough consideration to the bill before making up his mind and that he would do what he thought was best for labor and the country.

Lesinski then rebutted the argument that if Truman vetoed he would have no law to deal with another coal strike.

"That is a lot of bunk, Mr. President," declared the Michigan congressman. "Do you know that there is an escape clause in the Taft-Hartley bill which exempts John L. Lewis from its provisions? He can circumvent the bill simply by having his mine union members protest that they are working under unsafe conditions. If this is done, Lewis can go ahead and call a walkout and the government can't do anything about it under this legislation."

—MANUFACTURERS LOBBY—

Truman seemed surprised at this.

"I didn't know anything like that was in there," he admitted. "However, John L. Lewis probably would try to circumvent the bill, whether he had an escape clause or not."

"There's a lot of tricky stuff in this bill that doesn't meet the eye, Mr. President," observed Lesinski. "I suggest that you get the labor department to give it a good going-over."

Truman replied that he intended to get opinions from all interested departments and agencies of the government, including the labor department, before making up his own mind.

Madden suggested that the White House also should consider who is behind the "propaganda campaign" to get him to sign the Taft-Hartley measure.

"I refer particularly to the strategic and heavily financed efforts of the National Association of Manufacturers and other anti-labor groups to drive a wedge between farmers and city industrial workers on this issue," asserted Madden. "They have been pretty successful, judging by the sentiment that has been worked up for this legislation in farm areas.

"It has been proven time and time again, especially since enactment of the Wagner Act, that labor and agriculture are interdependent, that the two cannot prosper separately. When industrial workers were living in economic serfdom in the '20's, no one took a worse beating than the farmer.

"Why? I'll tell you why," continued Madden, warming to his subject. "Because the same forces who want to see the Taft-Hartley Bill become law were in action then, as they are today, trying to divide the farmer and the city worker.

"The farmers of America must be informed that these same propagandists who are trying to submerge labor will also reduce the farmer to the status he endured when wheat was 30 cents a bushel and corn sold for 8 cents a bushel if this bill becomes law."

Truman replied that there was "no doubt" in his mind that an attempt was being made by supporters of the Taft-Hartley Bill to create a rift between agriculture and labor.

"I certainly agree with you that some effort should be made to counteract this propaganda among the farmers'," the president concluded.

The three Democrats departed, however, with no commitment for or against the most controversial issue before congress this year.

RUSS WILSON ROTE SPEAKER

Pleads For More Active Participation In Government

Active participation in affairs of government is essential for the survival of our democratic form of government Russell Wilson, superintendent of schools at Alpena stated in an address before the Manistique club Monday noon.

In explaining his assertion, he stated that the observance of four rules is absolutely necessary for this government's perpetuation.

These rules, he said, are:

First—We must take a better view of politics. Most of us have a regard for politics and politicians as something in ill repute. That is an unwholesome view, he said. Unless we can take a better view of politics our country's future is in danger, he warned.

Second—Policy and administration must be differentiated. When policy interferes with administration—in city, state or national government, the function of government is retarded. We should, he said, be interested in the governmental affairs of large cities for they, in large measure influence national government affairs.

Third—We must maintain a better attitude toward taxation. We should concern ourselves more with what we are getting for our money than with how much taxes we are paying.

Fourth—We must be willing to take part in the function of government. People are willing enough to take part in various community enterprises, but when it comes to taking part in the political affairs of the community, they draw the line. He concluded with the admonition that if people haven't time to devote to democracy, it will not be good for our form of government.

Mr. Wilson, before going to Alpena, was principal of Manistique high school. He also spoke at commencement exercises at the high school Monday evening. Carl Olson, present principal, introduced the speaker.

J. Earl Cousineau, of the high school music department, sang several numbers before Mr. Wilson's talk. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. James Fyvie.

Rotary Anns were also present as guests at the meeting.

TIGERS TRIMMED BY A'S, 11 TO 3

Four Detroit Hurlers Clubbed; Victors In 3rd-Place Tie

Detroit, June 9. (AP)—Rattling 13 hits off four pitchers—half the Tiger mound staff—the Philadelphia Athletics clubbed Detroit's American league leaders 11 to 3 today to move into a three-way tie with Boston and Cleveland for third place.

Dick Fowler scattered six Tiger hits through eight innings to take his fourth victory, although he retired to allow Russ Christopher to pitch the ninth.

Philadelphia scored off every pitcher the Tigers used, pinning a fourth straight defeat on starter Virgil Trucks and continuing the assault on Johnny Gorsica, Hal White and Stubby Overmire. The A's biggest inning was the ninth, when they batted around against Overmire for four runs.

Elmer Valo of the Macks and George Kell each homered but the batting stars were Pete Suder and Hank Majeski of the Athletics, who drove in three runs each with two hits apiece.

Fowler had a four-hit shutout for six innings and the Tigers never were in the game after they committed three errors in the second inning to help the A's to two runs.

Valo's third homer of the season made it 3-0 in the third and Buddy Rosar's double led to another run off Trucks in the fourth before Gorsica took over.

Two walks, a sacrifice and singles by Valo and Suder made it 5-0 in the fifth and White was on the mound in the sixth when Barney McCosky and Valo walked and scored all the way from second on a wild pitch.

All lads 14 to 17 years of age, inclusive, interested in playing baseball in a 'teen age league soon to be formed are invited to report tonight at 6:30 o'clock at a preliminary practice session of the Escanaba Cubs, "Manager Al Ness announced yesterday. Entries in the junior league are expected from Gladstone, Manistique, Chatham, Marquette and Escanaba and at least one additional entry also is sought.

Plans for a meeting of the new league are being made now and it is likely that representatives will convene Friday of this week at Escanaba.

The outstanding local players in the 14-17 group, with particular emphasis on youths in the 14-15-16 age class, will be selected to form the Escanaba entry in the circuit. Uniforms and other paraphernalia will be provided, except shoes and gloves.

Considerable interest has been displayed in the formation of a junior league in this area and representatives of other communities have already expressed a desire to enter the circuit. A season of 10 Sunday games is desired.

GIANTS' RALLY STOPS PIRATES

New York, June 9 (AP)—Walker Cooper's second home run of the day, a long wallop into the left field stands with two men on base in the last of the ninth inning, topped an exciting uphill struggle by the New York Giants today with a 13-10 decision over Pittsburgh. Mel Ott's fence-busters hammered five home runs on their way to a first place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Coming into the eighth inning, trailing 8-1 and completely mystified by the two-hit pitching of Kirby Higbe, the Giants lashed out with an eight-run spree in the eighth to take the lead.

After the Pirates came back with two in their half of the ninth on Hank Greenberg's triple, a walk, Wally Westlake's single and Eddie Basinski's squeeze bunt, the Giants tore into the Pirates' relief pitchers for four runs in their half of the frame.

Mickey Witek led off the last of the ninth with a home run to tie the score. With one out, Johnny Mise doubled and Willard Marshall was walked intentionally. After Manager Billy Herman replaced Art Herring with Jim Bagby, his fifth pitcher, Cooper lined his homerun drive to break up the ball game.

HERMANSVILLE BEATEN, 11-7

Hermansville, June 9—Eight errors proved too great for the home nine to overcome here yesterday as Hermansville dropped an 11-7 Cloverland loop ball game to Perronville before a large crowd.

Hermansville held a 7-5 lead at the end of the fifth inning, but the visitors took advantage of misplays to gang up five runs to take a 10-7 lead and they added one more in the eighth for good measure.

Bill Lawrence set the pace for Perronville with five hits in five trips to the plate. Perronville collected 17 safeties. Mauli, Floriano, John Pieropon, Earle and Marana each got two hits for Hermansville.

MANISTIQUE '9' DEFEATS GWINN

Cardinals Outhit, But Visitors' Errors Costly; 8-2

Manistique, June 9— Playing before a crowd estimated to be well over 500, the Manistique Cardinals took the measure of Gwinn, 8-2, in the first home game of the season.

Manistique played airtight ball for seven innings when Deloria weakened and was subjected to a barrage of hits that netted two runs. Gwinn garnered nine hits during the game, but Manistique managed to bunch its seven hits more effectively.

Russ Johnson started on the mound for Manistique, but developed a sore arm at the end of five innings and had to give up.

The car was parked in a driveway beside Miss Moore's large riverside home.

Lie Detector Test Given In Hospital Killing Of 2 Babies

Cleveland, June 9 (AP)— A lie detector test was given late today to a man who had volunteered for it in connection with the deaths of two baby girls in City hospital at Massillon, O., but experts said another test would be necessary "in about a week."

The man was brought here for the test from Massillon, after Assistant Stark County Prosecutor W. Bernard Rodgers said he had volunteered. Rodgers described the procedure as "merely routine."

The assistant prosecutor was assigned today to aid in investigation of the deaths last Friday night of Diane J. Brand, 10 weeks, and Rosemary Morton, nine weks, who were found dying of skull fractures in the pediatrics ward of Massillon city hospital. Stark county Detective Harry Grossglaus also was assigned to the case.

Massillon Police Chief Stanley W. Switter said he was quizzing six small children who were patients in the hospital in an effort to determine if they had picked up the babies in play and dropped them.

Housewives To Get Sugar For Canning

Washington, June 9 (AP) — An agriculture department official proposed today to give housewives an extra 15 pounds of sugar per person this year if they need it for home canning.

The proposal was made to the House banking committee by James H. Marshall, chief of the sugar branch. He said that would be better than lifting household rationing entirely.

There will not be enough sugar, he said, to give everybody in the country an additional 15 pounds, but if the law clearly says that the extra sugar is intended exclusively for home canning, probably no more than half the nation's housewives will take it. Regular ration stamps are good for 35 pounds per person during the year.

Marshall told the committee that a bill lifting sugar rationing for household consumers "would eliminate checks on wholesalers and retailers and might make rationing ineffective for small industrial users."

Britons Kidnaped At Crowded Bathing Pool In Jerusalem

BY CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, June 9 (AP)—Eleven armed Jews, one a girl, kidnaped two British police officers from a crowded swimming pool at Ramat Gan late today, just two hours after the arrival here of the secretariat of the United Nations commission to investigate Palestine.

The abductors, some of whom wore masks, fled in a commandeered truck after tossing smoke bombs into the pool and pool area, where 150 civilians were swimming and sunning, an official announcement asid.

Authorities blamed Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, for the daring raid, which shattered the first real period of quiet and relaxation in Palestine in two years, while the country awaited action by the U. N. Committee.
